

Madagascan Wild Carabinero Prawns

A Striking Deep Red Colour with a Fleshy & Robust Rich Flavour

The Best Wild Shrimp

Carefully fished at the high sea, these wild carabineros will treat you to unique tasting moments. The wild carabineros are sorted out, calibrated, weighed, packed and frozen at sea right after they leave the water; guaranteeing freshness and optimal quality. Traceability is also ensured from trawls to your plate.

From the Deep Sea

Fishing is done at 650 metres depth, around 20 miles from the coasts, in deep sediments. It requires similar rigging to coast fishing however, adjusted to these depths. The season for deep sea fishing starts from June to December.

Responsible Fishing

Fishing nets used by catching boats are 70 mm whereas regulatory net size is 50 mm. This limits fish catching. Trawlers also adapt ballasting chain to avoid scraping sea bed and fishing shellfish, sea urchin or other by catch, aiming to sustain resources towards future preservation.
